Claim Objections

1. Claim 1 is objected to because of the following informalities: Applicants are requested to remove the terminology "characterized by" from the claims. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

- 2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:
  - The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
- 3. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The "alkalis" is not a class of compounds such as alkaline earth metal or alkali metal therefor it cannot be determined what alkalis are being limited.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102 and 103

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- 5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
  - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Application/Control Number: 10/571,460

Art Unit: 1755

6. Claims 1,2,4-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Japanese document 11-277220.

The Japanese document teaches a filling material including silica sand having a particle size of .6-1.2 mm and feldspar with a particle size of .85 mm exemplified, (see page 4, paragraph [0023] and drawing. The alkali metal oxide is limited to .3-2 wt%. It would be expected that silica sand is greater than 95% silica. Also the instant claims allow for 0% of the claimed chromite sand therefor the limitations of claims 6 and 7 are not required. Furthermore, the instant claims do not exclude the presence of other chromite sands having different properties.

The claims are considered anticipated or in the alternative the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have selected the overlapping portion of the range disclosed by the prior art because overlapping ranges have been held to be a prima facie case of obvious, see In re Malagari, 182 U.S.P.Q 549.

7. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Japanese document 11-277220 further in view of one of Japanese document 2000-317625 or Dislich (5,124,285).

JP 11-277220 fails to teach a coating of carbon black.

Japanese document 2000-317625 teaches the adding carbon to improve the wettability of the filler material.

Dislich teaches adding carbon black, encasing the filler material with carbon black to improve flowability.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to further include coating the filler material of the JP '220 document with carbon black because the secondary references teach that the carbon improves the wettability and pourability of the filler material.

- 8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
